LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADLE GARRISON

"MARY" my husband exploded as I drew away from his embrace. "What does Mary have to do with the price of potatoes?"

"Nothing that I know of," I tossed back as I went to the telephone. "But she does have a great deal to do with something else very important."

"I'll tell you all about it later," I went on as I took down the receiver, and when I had given the operator the number of Mary's apartment, I added:

"Please don't be surprised at anything I say, and when she comes up here, catch my cues, even if you don't understand them."

"Sounds like a blooming jig saw puzzle to me, with most of the pieces lost," he grumbled.

But I knew that he would play up, and I mustered all my faculties on the problem of getting Mary up to the apartment without Noel accompanying her.

It was Noel who answered the telephone, and I made my voice conspiratorial.

"Noel, don't tell Mary this now, but her grand-ol' father has a slight heart attack, and I know that she'll want to be up here. But there's no use of upsetting her. I'll tell her about it when I see her. I'll just tell her I'd like to consult her about a dress I'm remodeling, and ask her if she can spare the time to come up right away. I don't believe she'll suspect anything."

Sound of Closing Door

"I'll tell her at once," he said promptly, and then I heard him talking to Mary, although I could not make out the words. The next instant I heard the sound of a closing door, and then Noel's voice again.

"She's on her way up," he said. "I should like to have come with her—you know that, don't you?"

"Of course," I answered anxiously.

"But I was afraid she would suspect something was wrong if I came along, too. So I'll just stay here until she comes back."

"Thank heaven for that!" I breathed to myself, but I did not utter the words aloud, and the next instant he was speaking again, urgently.

"But I'll stay right here by the telephone," he said. "So if you should need me, all you'll have to do will be to call. Tell me, is Madam Graham in danger?"

"Can Ward Off Attack"

"I do not think so," I told him. "Mrs. Bickett, who is taking care of her in the apartment adjoining this, thinks she can ward off the attack which shows signs of beginning. What she needs most is rest and quiet."

"Yes, I imagine she's been going at a pretty strenuous pace for her age," he commented.

"She has," I answered laconically. "And now, dear boy, I really must stop talking. Thank you so much for your co-operation."

"I haven't done anything," he protested. "Remember to call me if you need me."

"I surely will," I told him heartily. "And thank you Goodbye."

I hung up my receiver even before we had voiced his answering "Goodbye," and turned to meet my husband's frankly inquisitive eyes.

"You've got me treed, allée samée a coon," he said. "First, you tell Noel that he must not frighten Mary about her grandmother, and then you go on discussing Mother's heart attack, and suddenly answering his questions about it. What's the answer?"

"Mary On Her Way"

"The door knocker will give it to you in a minute or two, I fancy," I told him smiling. "You see, Mary left the apartment as soon as he had given her my message, and is on her way up here. The rest of his part of the conversation was unheard by her."

"So far, so good," he said. "And now, where do we go from here?"

"As far as the door," I said, wrinkling my nose at him as the door knocker sounded.

But when I admitted Mary, she evidently was highly keyed with curiosity.

"Don't tell me you sent for me in such a hurry for a remodeling job," she said. "What's happened?"

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDENSON, M.D.

Vitamins

Knowledge of vitamins is getting beyond the ABC stage. Most of them have real names now and we know many, many things about them that were not dreamed of earlier.

Not so long ago, it was believed that the only signs of vitamin lack were the development of actual and terrible diseases, diseases such as beriberi, due to lack of vitamin B-1; scurvy, due to vitamin C deficiency; rickets, developing because of insufficient vitamin D.

Now, we know that vitamin lacks are much more widespread than is shown by the development of these diseases, and that these lacks can show up in apparently normal individuals in disorders such as increased susceptibility to cold, decrease in vitality and even in faulty eyesight.

Furthermore, we now understand that vitamin deficiencies develop under many conditions besides poverty and ignorance. A nation does not have to be devastated by war for its people to suffer from hidden vitamin hunger.

The faulty preserving of foods and improper use of vitamins may destroy certain of the vitamins. Also, disorders of the stomach and bowel may cause persons to eat foods that do not supply enough vitamins, or these disorders may keep the vitamins from being taken into the body.

The chronic alcoholic may forget to eat. The person with poor appetite may not eat enough. There may be a lack of secretions such as those in the stomach, or some disturbance of the bile which keeps vitamins from being absorbed.

Foods may move through the intestinal tract so rapidly because of diarrhea that there is no opportunity for food materials to be taken up into the body. Some types of chronic liver disease may interfere with the storage of the vitamins and then, at certain times of life such as pregnancy, in women who are breastfeeding a baby, or in those who are putting forth unaccustomed physical exertion, there may be a need for an extra quantity of vitamins.

Not only have we learned all these facts about the causes of vitamin deficiency, but more and more vitamins have been recognized. There are vitamins A, B, C, E, and K, which are soluble in fat, and vitamins D, and the many parts of the vitamin B-complex, which are soluble in water. We do not know as yet what a deficiency of these parts of the B-complex may lead to.

For example, there is still no definite evidence of the part that pyridoxine, pantothenic acid, choline inositol and biotin play in the human body.

People in general can rely on the foods they eat to supply them with the vitamins they require. However, when deficiencies actually do exist, our knowledge is now such that the physician can prescribe the proper vitamin preparations to overcome quickly the difficulty that is present.

UN-AMERICAN PROBE OF OFFICIALS BARED

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 19.—Members of the house committee on un-American activities disclosed today that for the last two months they have been quietly investigating reports that "persons of un-American tendencies are holding high position in the state department."

Their inquiry, they said, does not overlap a current inquiry into state department intelligence operations being made by the house military committee.

Disclosure that the un-American activities group has moved into the state department picture came from Rep. Mundt (R-SD) and was confirmed by Rep. Rinkin (D-Miss), ranking majority member.

"We have made no formal report and probably won't for some time," Mundt told a reporter. "But what we have found so far indicates that there is more than a rumor to reports that many persons of questionable background are employed in the department."

Mundt said his committee is concerned primarily with persons who "are pro-Communist."

Three Union Co. Fans Hurt in Auto Mishap

Special to The Star
MARYSVILLE, March 19.—Three Union county young people, enroute to the basketball tournament games at Springfield Saturday, escaped serious injury when their automobile skidded on the wet pavement into the ditch about eight miles southeast of Springfield on State Route 4. The automobile was badly damaged.

Dorance Rockenbaugh of Magnolia Springs was driving the car and Miss Catherine Rousa, daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. Homer S. Rousa, a passenger in the car. The name of the other passenger was not learned.

All suffered bruises. Another car of young people from Magnolia Springs happened by and aided in pulling the wrecked car out of the ditch and had it towed to a garage. The three passengers of the wrecked car continued on to the game, riding in the machine which came to their assistance.

Russian Offer To Help with Food
Aids French Reds
By DEWITT BLACKENZIE
AP World Traveler
PARIS, March 19—A distinguished French friend—long a keen observer of the trend of events at home and abroad—remarked to me as we were discussing his country's political-economic difficulties:
"France's problem is one of food. We haven't had a piece of meat in my home for three weeks, because it couldn't be bought.
Even the black market hasn't got much meat. That's what the people are up against, and their outlook is being swayed by their stomachs."
Well, it's true that most folk think with their bellies when they're hungry. Moreover, on returning to Paris, Dewitt Blackenzie found that there has been a subtle and significant change in the reasoning impelled by short rations.
France had been expecting to get wheat from North America and meat from the Argentine. On the strength of its hopes, the government abandoned bread cards last November only to find that they had to be restored the first of this year, thus giving public morale a nasty jolt. Since then French belts have been drawn tighter and tighter.
Russia Gets Credit
Then a few days ago the nation was given the sensational news that Russia had offered France 500,000 tons of grain, providing this country could find the shipping to move it. The French have crews but few ships, and the United States already has provided Liberty ships to help transport this badly needed food.
The reaction of many of the French public is what would be expected. The people—not having had an explanation of why they couldn't get the wheat they needed from the United States or Canada and the meat from the Argentine—are saying:

"Russia is giving us the help which we couldn't get elsewhere." That fits perfectly into the program of the French Communists, who are making a heavy propaganda campaign in preparation for the forthcoming national elections in May when the new constitution will be adopted and the republic will enter a fresh phase.
Mind you, I have no information that Moscow's move was other than purely humanitarian. I can only report what the effect is here in France on many people.
And it may be suggested in passing that this would seem to be a mighty good time for the other Allied capitals to explain clearly the circumstances which made it impossible to fulfill the French hopes, since the people of this country certainly don't understand the situation.
Will Help Trend
Without doubt the Russian move will help the strong swing to the left which France is experiencing along with many other countries. There's much speculation on how it may affect the women's vote, since the question of food is a vital one for them.
However, political prophets are thinking much and saying little for the future of France—traditionally on the conservative side with its great farming population —is in the melting pot. Three main political parties have taken the place of the many which bedeviled the country before the war. They are the Communists and Socialists on the left and the Movement Republicain Populaire on the right.

Emory Glander, state tax commissioner, ruled today that all city-owned utilities except transit systems were exempt from real and property taxes.
In an action stemming from the Ohio supreme court's decision of June 6, 1945, holding the Cleveland Street Railway taxable, Glander cited a section of Ohio law written in the late 19th century and specifically exempting "works, machinery, pipe-lines, and fixtures belonging to a city or village and used exclusively for conveying water to it, or for heating or lighting it." The act does not mention transportation systems.
Conservation Committee
To Meet Here in April The Marion county wildlife conservation committee will meet the second week in April to discuss and recommend changes in game laws for this year. O. H.
Neimeyer, Marion county game protector announced today.
Representatives from the Grange, farm organizations, sportsmen's clubs, nature and service club are expected to be present. One of the issues to be discussed will be continuation of the present fox law which expires March 31, 1947. The law makes it legal to kill fox at any time. Mr.
Neimeyer said, however, there is pressure by certain groups to have the law changed and to put a closed season on fox.

Programs on the Air Ohio fruit growers will be giving information on spraying orchards and vineyards to control insect pests and disease through newspapers and over radio stations again this year.
Recommendations for the protection of growing fruit will be made by T. H. Parks and C. C. Allison, extension specialists Ohio State university. The recommendations will be broadcast Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at 6:30 a. m. over WLW, Cincinnati, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 12 noon, over WOSU, Columbus, and on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays at 6:35 a. m. over WTAM, Cleveland. The spray program begins March 25, over WLW, March 28 over WOSU, and April 2 over WTAM.
The pre-war plan of network operation under a daylight schedule for the spring and summer months is to be put back into effect this year, three chains have indicated. A fourth has not yet reached a conclusion.
NBC, CBS and ABC say they plan to go on a daylight schedule April 28.
NBC, which said it is "studying the situation," has queried its stations on the question and intends to follow the desire of the majority.
Under the daylight schedule, shows on the networks will originate in accordance with this time, which is one hour ahead of standard. Thus it will be left to those affiliated stations which continue to operate on standard time either to follow the network listing or record programs and put them on in agreement with local times.
America's town meeting has the distinction of being the first regional winner in the history of the George Foster Peabody Radio Awards, following its selection by the awards committee as "the ings, if any, are caused by last-minute changes made by stations and

Damage Suit Asks $1,018 from C. & O. After Fire Ross E. Hobson and Lona Hobson have filed a $1,018 damage suit in common pleas court against the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co.
In their petition they charge that in burning railway ties and debris along their 145 acre farm in Salt Rock township, railway employees left the fire unattended and it burned over 15 acres of their land, rendering approximately 35 acres unproductive.
The 35 acres was seeded to sweet clover and the Hobsons ask $150 for damage to the crop. They ask another $500 for 30 tons of straw claimed destroyed and $250 for replanting and recultivating 20 acres of land. For labor expenses in fighting the fire and for clothes burned they ask $18.
Moore and Myers are their attorneys.
RAIL BLAMED IN DEATH
By The Associated Press TROY, O., March 19—The death of William Clave, 74, was attributed today by Prosecutor Paul Ginterich to a blow on the head from a baseball bat or thrown during a scrub game Friday. The prosecutor said Clave was standing in the yard of his son, C. E. Clave, when struck on the back of the head by the ball.
A physician who examined the elder Clave said he apparently suffered no harm. He was found dead by his son Saturday morning, however, Ginterich said.

What kind of bath shall I take?
You may think a bath is just a bath—merely a matter of running water into the tub, working up a good lather, and finishing off with a turkish towel. . . . Actually, a bath is what you make it — relaxing, refreshing, cleansing.
Get the most out of your daily bath by choosing the kind that meets your needs.

A proven past a promising future
Ask the family who owned a Servel Gas refrigerator during the hectic war years. They'll vouch for its great dependability. When many home appliances were breaking down for want of repairs and new parts, Servel carried on, silently and reliably. . . . all because THERE ARE NO MOVING PARTS in its entire freezing system. There's no wear — no vibration — no noise. It's the Little Gas Flame that does all the work!
Today, we have a new streamlined Servel to show you. It is as beautiful as ever — and just as dependable!
